

Affected by Diabetes?

Have your say!

The three Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) in County Durham and Darlington, who are Durham Dales, Easington and Sedgefield CCG, North Durham CCG and Darlington CCG, are looking into ways they can bring diabetes services together across the area, where the whole health community joins in partnership to ensure that patients are placed at the centre of their care.

The CCGs are committed to making sure that people in receipt of diabetes services have the opportunity to share their experiences, opinions and views, to ensure that the best possible services are commissioned (bought in) for local people, and using this feedback to make changes in local services.

If you or someone you know is affected by diabetes, and would like to have your say on how local services can be improved, we would like to invite you to attend one of the following focus groups:
